The Gift Book of the Year

The CHRISTY EVANGELINE

The new Christy-Longfellow book is a surpassing achievement in beauty. Mr. Christy has more than risen to the occasion and given to Longfellow's masterpiece—the most familiar and best beloved of all American love poems—a new richness and a new loveliness.

It is the ideal gift book, and this is shown by the fact that whoever buys it selfishly dislikes to give it away.

A Little Comedy of Country Manners

JOHN LUTHER LONG'S

SEFFY

A draught of pure delight is this little comedy of country manners. It is like a summer day,—all sunshine and showers and rainbows,—smiles and tears and smiles again breaking through the tears.

It is an idyl of the Pennsylvania Germans, with two love motives, the love of man for maid and the love of father for son. Both are prettily managed, in the first half of the book, with charming humor,—in the second part, with seriousness, tenderness, dignity.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published a new volume on Russia, by Carl Joubert, author of "Russia as It Really Is," entitled "The Truth About the Tsar;" a fourth edition, revised and enlarged, of "A Short Handbook of Oil Analysis," by Augustus H. Gill; also "New Methods of Testing Explosives," by C. E. Bichel.

HENRY HOLT will publish shortly the series of articles on "The Negro and the Nation," contributed originally by George B. Merriam to the Springfield Republican. The work treats of the negro from slave trade days to Tuskegee, and is distinguished by both wit and scholarship. They are also just bringing out "American Trades Unionism," a volume of papers and studies on the subject by post-graduate students of Johns Hopkins University, edited by Professors Hollander and Barnett; also, Stopford Brooke's "Lectures on Shakespeare."

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out "The Minutes of the Committee of the County of Tyron, from the first meeting in the Palatine District, August 27, 1774, to November 24, 1775," a Revolutionary historical narrative relating to Central New York, edited and annotated, and illustrated with portraits, views and facsimiles; also, the tenth edition of "Nedra," by George Barr McCutcheon, which is selling better than ever abroad as well as here. They will publish shortly the concluding volume of their sumptuous definite edition of "The Original Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition," edited by Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have ready "Kindergarten Bible Stories," by Laura E. Cragin, who has selected from the Old Testament those stories best adapted for children and has retold them with skill and interest, deftly uncovering the moral lessons each contains. "The Vision at the Savoy," just ready, is an unusual book for diverse reasons. The author, Winifred Graham, has introduced as characters the present Bishop of London, Father Ignatius and even the American revivalists Torrey and Alexander, contrasting them with the usual run of society folk in a story of absorbing interest. Also from this house is "The Witness of Sin," by the New England minister, the Rev. Nathan Robinson Wood, being a study of the world-old problem of the whence and why of evil.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have been obliged to postpone publication of the authorized edition of Dr. C. G. Schillings's notable work, "Flashlights in the Jungle," until next month. The delay in bringing out this edition is due to the elaborate care taken in making the English translation accurate in its African geography and anthropology. The edition will contain the 320 original photographs and the complete text of 900 pages, embracing the complete narrative of the remarkable expedition. Owing to the difficult presswork, Doubleday, Page & Company have been obliged to postpone also the publication of "The Country House," by Charles Edward Hooper, until next spring. This book will contain over three hundred half-tone illustrations, and is a complete manual of house-building by a widely known architect.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger†. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Designed to meet the needs of students beginning to study the forms of writing, needs that have been disclosed year after year by the students entering Cornell University, where Prof. Andrews is instructor in English. This is not a selection from the great writers. The descriptive selections deal largely with scenes in America; the narratives are largely narratives of fact that do not deal with difficult situations or complex emotions; short paragraphs from newspapers are included to show how conciseness and vividness give interest to the little events of every-day life.

Audubon, J: W. Audubon's western journal, 1849-1850: being the ms. record of a trip from New York to Texas, and an overland journey through Mexico and Arizona to the goldfields of California; with biographical memoir by his daughter, Maria R. Harrogate is situated in Yorkshire, England, about nineteen miles west of the city of York. Some very popular new baths were opened there in 1897. The waters are chiefly of sulphur and saline properties. After three sections devoted to the physiology and therapeutics of the Harrogate waters there is a fourth section in which the separate chronic diseases are treated with special detail.

The writer was candidate for governor of Nebraska in 1904; during the campaign he expressed himself plainly upon the railroad question, asserting that the railroads owned the legislature through the free pass system. His work continues the discussion urging that the people regulate and control the railroads. Mr. Berge is also editor and publisher of the Nebraska Independent, where much of this matter first appeared.

This is the first American edition of a Norwegian text for school or college use. The want of such an edition of a text suitable for first year reading has been felt for a long time by teachers of the Scandinavian languages both in this country and in England. This is one of Bjornson's peasant stories.

A Dorsetshire story full of the woods and a keeper's life. A rich farmer dying leaves his property to his wife for her life, stipulating that then it shall go intact to the oldest son who is to provide for his brother. The younger man is indignant, falls out with his brother and takes a place as keeper with an eccentric old woman devoted to the Kneipp cure. Romance steps in and the plot develops the young farmer whose wildest doings have stopped short of wild oats and are put down by a friend as "wild wheat."

The anonymous author holds that Christ brought something into the world that will live "a hundred thousand years hence when the inhabitants of this planet will know as little about our religion as we know about the religion of the dwellers in Atlantis. It is conceivable that the very name of Christ will have passed away. But the world will be more Christian than it is now. For through all those years the stream of Christ's spiritual influence will have continued to deepen and widen."

- Denby, C. China and her people: being the observations, reminiscences, and conclusions of an American diplomat; il. with reproductions of photographs collected by the author. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., 1906, [1905. N.] c. 2 v., 8+256; 8+276 p. il. pors. map, D. (Travel lovers' lib.) cl., *$2.40 net; 34 mor., *$5 net.
As will be remembered, Col. Denby was United States Minister to China for thirteen years, having been appointed in 1885 by President Cleveland. Probably no other American has been able to look as deeply into Chinese affairs nor form as accurate and comprehensive opinions of Chinese life. The first volume is devoted to the life of the Chinese, their religion, customs, arts and language, mission work in China, etc., while the government trade relations and recent wars fill the second volume, with a chapter on the Boxer uprising. The editor contributes a biographical sketch of Col. Denby, and a concluding chapter on the Russo-Japanese war.

- Esterly, C. O. The pelagic copepoda of the San Diego region. Berkeley, Cal., University of California Press, [1905.] 113-233 p. il. Q. (University of California publications, Zoology.) pap., $1.25.
The present paper is the result of a study of the pelagic copepoda collected in the San Diego region during one month of the summer of 1903, nearly two months of 1904, and during December and January, 1903.
- Evans, T. Wiltberger. Memoirs of Dr. Thomas W. Evans: the second French empire; ed. by E. A. Crane, M.D.; Napoleon the Third, the Empress Eugénie, the Prince Imperial. N. Y., Appleton, 1905. 20+527 p. il. pors. 8°, cl., $3 net.
Dr. Evans was the celebrated American dentist who lived in Paris from 1847 until his death in 1897, and was appointed court dentist by Napoleon III. His personal friendship with Napoleon and the Empress Eugénie brought him in contact with all the great ones of the time, not only of France but of other European countries. This volume is made up of those portions of his memoirs that relate to the Second French Empire, and contains a detailed account of Eugénie's flight from Paris under the care of Dr. Evans and Dr. Crane, the editor of the present work, and her subsequent settling in England. Dr. Evans's relations to the royal family continued up to his death and his record of men and events have the merit of being that of an eye witness and most loyal friend.
- Farce (The) of Master Pierre Patelin; composed by an unknown author about 1469 A.D. English ed. by R. Holbrook; il. with facsimiles of the woodcuts in the edition of Pierre Levet, Paris, ca. 1489. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1905. [N.] c. 37+116 p. O. cl., $2 net.
"Patelin" belongs to a series of farces which had come mysteriously into being as early as 1277. It is a piece of literature typical of the times—its author's name, however, being entirely forgotten. Mr. Holbrook in his introduction says: "In every regard it excels all other extant farces. The author of this piece, whoever he may have been and wherever he may have lived, was a genius, and when he wrote he was inspired." Of the characters he says: "They represent in several distinct and ludicrous phases the poverty, the greed, the cynical cunning, the selfishness, and the grinning depravity characteristic of the fifteenth century, at least in France."

Lettridge, Sila A. Animal snapshots and how made; il. with photographs from nature by the author. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1905. [O.] c. 15+338 p. D. cl., $1.75.

For years the author has spent his vacations, in an ideal way, photographing and studying our friends in fur and feathers, in their native haunts. He enters into their lives as much as possible, in order to know their habits and wild ways—how they live and how they care for their young. In the sketches of mammals and birds given he has attempted to make the photographs as far as possible illustrate the facts. The text is a simple narrative of facts taken from his own observations and experiences.

For twenty-seven years this forgotten man was of great use to England in many places of trust and of danger. His family were obscure though he has been traced to the great Bedford family from whom the celebrated Russells sprang. He was born in 1707 and after a hard life entered the British commercial service in 1724 as Consul to Barbary. He held many important positions among the Moors and in Spain, and came in contact with all the important seamen of his day. Died in 1752 at Lisbon.

The materials for these volumes are of two kinds. "On the one hand," the editor says, "I have set down passages of verse and prose in which some text of this book of the Bible has been used or applied in what appears to be a forcible or notable manner. Some of these are drawn from history and biography, others from general literature. In the second place, I have admitted passages which develop aptly and freshly not the words but the idea of a Biblical verse. It is hoped that both classes of illustrations may prove interesting to the ordinary reader by enriching the associations and eliciting the significance of the Bible."

A tale of Egypt based on the theory of reincarnation. The daughter of the last of Egypt's shepherd kings and a young Hebrew are taken prisoner by the Theban conqueror and conveyed to Thebes. The princess is later offered by her captors as a sacrifice to the Nile, and thus closes book one. Hundreds of years later when Mohammedans are rulers in Egypt, the souls of the princess, her Hebrew lover, her father, the king, and Hotep, the high priest, take human form again, and the mystery of reincarnation, dimly realized by each one of them, is substantiated by means of a discovered papyrus roll.

"In connection with the problem of sex determination it has seemed necessary to investigate further the so-called 'accessory chromosome,' which according to McClurg ('02) may be a sex determinant. . . . The forms selected for study have been taken from several groups of insects, and are all species whose spermatogenesis has not been previously worked out. They are (1) a California termite, Termopsis angusticollis; (2) a California sand-cricket, stenopelmatus; (3) the croton-bug, Blattella germanica; (4) The common meal-worm, Tenebrio molitor; and (5) one of the aphids, aphis acrotherae."—Introduction.

- Wilkins, W. H. Mrs. Fitzherbert and George iv. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. [N.] c. 20+476 p. pors. O. cl., *$5 net.
One of the romances of the later Georgian era was the marriage of Mrs. Fitzherbert and George, Prince of Wales, afterwards George iv. This marriage was not only never acknowledged, but twice denied in the House of Commons. Before Mrs. Fitzherbert's death, in 1833, she reserved certain papers from destruction, and deposited them in Messrs. Coutts' Bank. No one up to the present time has ever been allowed to see these papers. But through the gracious permission of King Edward, Mr. Wilkins had been allowed to inspect and publish them, or such extracts from them as were necessary to vindicate Mrs. Fitzherbert's character. They establish beyond doubt the fact of a marriage, which, if not legal according to English law, was admitted by the church to be morally binding. These papers and letters with other new material, and many rare portraits, make a volume of unusual value and interest.
- Wills, W. An essay on the principles of circumstantial evidence; illustrated by numerous cases; ed. by his son, Sir Alfred Wills. 5th Eng. ed., (1902;) with Am. notes by G. E. Beers and Arthur L. Corbin. Bost., Boston Book Co., 1905. c. 13+448 p. O. shp., $5.
- Willson, Rob. N., M.D. The American boy and the social evil, from a physician's standpoint. Phil., J. C. Winston Co., 1905. c. 2-159 p. D. cl., $1.
"For years," says Dr. Willson, "I have felt the need, as an individual and a physician, of a simple, and yet scientifically accurate, presentation of the world's great blemish, its causes, and effects, in such a form that I might safely place it in the hands of the American boy and girl. Each of the chapters comprising this little volume has been chosen with this end." The subjects are: The nobility of boyhood; The boys' part in life's problem; Clean living a problem of school and college days; The social evil in America; The relation of the citizen to the social evil.
- Wisconsin. Supreme ct. Reports, v. 123, Oct. 18, 1904-Jan. 31, 1905; ed. by C. F. Lamb; F. K. Conover, off. rep. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1905. c. 34+742 p. O. shp., $2.75.
- Wittigslager, Wilhelmina. Minna, wife of the young Rabbi: a novel; drawings by W. Herbert Dunton. N. Y., Consolidated Retail Booksellers, 1905. c. 6-345 p. D. cl., †$1.50.
Story of the Russian Jews, centering in the experiences of a Jewish girl, forced into marriage with an ignorant student from whom she escapes a few hours after their marriage. She flies to Hamburg, thence to America. Years after she returns to Russia to search for her real parents; becomes involved with the Nihilists and assists in the assassination of Alexander II., discovered too late to be her father, and is transported to Siberia where she is chain-mate with the man whom she married years before. The story ends satisfactorily after many mysteries. The marriage customs of Russian Jews are described in detail, and Jewish fanaticism towards their own erring brethren is shown.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

DECEMBER 9, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BOOKTRADE REFORM MOVEMENT IN 1905.

THE year now drawing to a close has been an unusually satisfactory one so far as the adherence to the reform movement is concerned. While the chief antagonist has not ceased from troubling, the technical decision in his favor this summer has been of but little advantage to him, and his next move is still to be made. In the meantime, the case of Charles Scribner's Sons against Macy's to secure protection for their copyright books is on the calendar, and hopes are entertained of a favorable decision.

The retail trade has been almost a unit in its adherence to the rule, the defections coming from little known, and, as a rule, unimportant persons who enter the ranks of the trade in many instances as mere catspaws for the underseller. While some dissatisfaction is privately expressed by a few at the attitude of the American Publishers' Association in certain matters, even these dissenting booksellers are agreed that the reform movement has been of decided benefit to the trade, and that a reversion to the old conditions would be a calamity that must be resisted with every means available. Indeed, so strong has this feeling become among retail booksellers that it would be to the decided disadvantage of either a publisher or a bookseller to attempt to weaken their present defense against senseless and ruinous underselling.

It is no doubt, true, as some claim, that a bookseller is placed in an equivocal position when he is expected to retail a $1.50 work of fiction at $1.08, instead of being enabled to sell it at a straight bona-fide price, no matter what that price may be. There is even a strong feeling on the subject among the members of the American Publishers' Association; but the majority of the publishers of fiction do not yet see their way clear to yield on this point, and therefore the minority has had so far to content itself with the compromise by which, under the present conditions, the bookseller is nevertheless assured of at least $1.08 on new fiction, instead of being obliged, as he was a few years ago, to meet his competitors in the larger cities, who were selling fiction, as bait, in many cases as low as 79 cents. As to the more important lines carried by the bookseller, there can be no question that the protection secured by the American Publishers' Association has been of enormous advantage.

Considering the deplorable condition in which the booktrade found itself scarcely five years ago, harassed on one hand by reckless competitors and on the other hand by indifferent publishers, the associations formed since that time have done creditable work. Indeed, it is less to be wondered at that some difficult points still remain to be settled, than that so much has already been accomplished. Where so many interests in a country of so vast an extent as ours must be considered, reform must ever work slowly, and its prosecution and defense for some years to come will be expensive. The moral and material support of every one interested in the progress and uplifting of the movement is therefore absolutely necessary. Neither the publisher nor the bookseller can afford to return to the old conditions. The disaster that overtook even some of our larger publishing houses was due in some measure to the disorganization of the channels of distribution. As for those few booksellers who, while looking and hoping for still better things, are unwilling to put their shoulders to the wheel and help to obtain them, we put to them the simple question, Would you care to go back to the old conditions?

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ON COPYRIGHT LEGISLATION.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT in his annual message, transmitted to Congress on December 5, refers to our Copyright laws as follows:

"Our copyright laws urgently need revision. They are imperfect in definition, confused and inconsistent in expression; they omit provision for many articles which, under modern reproductive processes are entitled to protection; they impose hardships upon the copyright proprietor which are not essential to the fair protection of the public; they are difficult for the courts to interpret and impossible for the Copyright Office to administer with satisfaction to the public. Attempts to improve them by amendment have been frequent, no less than twelve acts for the purpose having been passed since the Revised Statutes. To perfect them by further amendment seems impracticable. A complete revision of them is essential. Such a revision, to meet modern conditions, has been found necessary in Germany, Austria, Sweden, and other foreign countries, and bills embodying it are pending in England and the Australian colonies. It has been urged here, and proposals for a commission to undertake it have, from time to time, been pressed upon the Congress. The inconveniences of the present conditions being so great, an attempt to frame appropriate legislation has been made by the Copyright Office, which has called conferences of the various interests especially and practically concerned with the operation of the copyright laws. It has secured from them suggestions as to the changes necessary; it has added from its own experience and investigations, and it has drafted a bill which embodies such of these changes and additions as, after full discussion and expert criticism, appeared to be sound and safe. In form this bill would replace the existing insufficient and inconsistent laws by one general copyright statute. It will be presented to the Congress at the coming session. It deserves prompt consideration."

THE GREEK LAMP BOOK-SHOP.

THE enterprising firm of Baker-Trisler Company have just completed their new Greek Lamp Book-Shop and Art Rooms, at 510 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Iowa. The store is located in the heart of the retail district, conveniently accessible to car lines, railway stations and hotels. It has two alley facings, side and back, which with the complete ventilating devices that have been installed, with numerous art windows opened on the sides, makes it a place that will be comfortable at all times, no matter how large the crowd. With the spacious and inviting rest room, people will recognize at once that their comfort has been considered, making shopping there a pleasure.

The interior has been entirely made over in the form of booths and galleries, giving an old English effect, a happy combination of the artistic and practical. The booths are classified and offer quiet nooks for the book lover to browse in undisturbed. According to the Des Moines Mail and Times, there are books upstairs and books downstairs and books on the main floor—books everywhere and still more books, all kinds and qualities and prices, chosen with the knowledge that comes from twenty-five years of experience in supplying what people want. . . . The solid glass front, with its extensions and its wide entrance, makes the most artistic and best contrived show windows in the city.

Conspicuous in the interior construction is a striking reproduction of a familiar Grecian arch, forming the entrance to the art rooms, where well-lighted separate rooms are constructed to display an extensive line of framed and sheet pictures, paintings, water colors, photogravures, etc. The basement is reserved for popular-priced books, pictures, artists' supplies, games, paper goods, etc. The stationery department, as well as the commercial stationery and office outfitting department, is on the main floor.

The firm is to be commended on its good taste and enterprise, which deserve to be amply rewarded with growing patronage.

A MODERN BOOK-FIRE.

PROVIDED with a temporary order from Judge Landis against Alvin C. Davis, restraining him from sending an alleged pirated song book through the mails, a deputy marshal and Attorneys W. S. Forrest and B. C. Bachrach, representing William W. Delaney, a song book publisher, according to the Chicago Tribune, went to Davis's place, 1634 West Ohio Street, Chicago, in an automobile on November 28 and seized 40,000 song books.

Five young women were busy in the office sending the song books out on orders. Later Davis and Delaney took the books to a nearby prairie and burned them. At the Chicago Newspaper Union Attorney Bachrach found 8000 more copies of the book and the plates. These also were destroyed.

The Harry Von Tilzer Publishing Company filed a suit against the Chicago Newspaper Union for the recovery of $8000—$1 for each copy of the song book printed by them in violation of the copyright. Ten other New York publishers have employed counsel to sue the company for damages aggregating $400,000.

OBITUARY.

JOHN BARTLETT.

JOHN BARTLETT, world renowned as the compiler of "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations," died at Cambridge, Mass., on the evening of December 3. Mr. Bartlett was born in Plymouth, Mass., June 14, 1820. He was of conspicuous New England lineage—the descendant in the eighth generation of Robert Bartlett, who landed at Plymouth from the Ann, in 1623, and married the daughter of Richard Warren, one of the Mayflower Pilgrims. At the age of eighteen, after attending the schools of his native town, young Bartlett became a clerk in the University Bookstore in Cambridge, of which, in 1849, he became manager. In that year he printed and published his first book, "Bothie of Taper-Na-Fuorich," a volume over which Emerson grew profoundly enthusiastic.

Bartlett's bookstore in Cambridge gradually became the headquarters of all the professors and students of Harvard who cared particularly for literature. The store then was on the corner of Holyoke Street, directly opposite the college buildings. Here gathered the literati of Cambridge.

In 1859 he retired from the business, being succeeded by Sever, Allyn & Francis, and in November, 1862 took a position as volunteer paymaster in the South Atlantic squadron of the United States. In July, 1863, he resigned his position as paymaster and associated himself with the firm of Little, Brown & Co., becoming a partner in February, 1865. He continued in the active work of the firm until his retirement in February, 1889. His chief work was personal dealings with authors, and during this period he became intimately acquainted with many writers of distinction. He knew intimately all of the famous Cambridge and Concord group of authors whose names are household words in this country as well as abroad.

"Familiar Quotations," which was later to make Mr. Bartlett's name so widely known, was first issued in 1855 as a small volume of 200 pages. After numerous revisions during subsequent years the ninth edition grew to 1200 pages. The volume has had a sale of nearly a quarter of a million copies. Mr. Bartlett's peculiar talents in this field of literary work induced him to begin a concordance of Shakespeare, the first result of this labor being "The Shakespeare Phrase Book," published in 1882. This was expanded by constant elaboration into the larger "Shakespeare Concordance," which appeared in 1894. In the preparation of this work he had the constant assistance of his wife, Hannah Staniford Willard, daughter of Professor Sydney Willard and granddaughter of Joseph Willard, a president of Harvard College.

Throughout his life Mr. Bartlett was devoted to the sport of fishing, and on this subject he collected a large and valuable library, which he presented to Harvard University. In the works of his friend, James Russell Lowell, is a poem "To Mr. John Bartlett, who sent me a seven-pound trout." As a disciple of Izaak Walton he prepared the second American edition of "The Complete Angler." In recognition of his services to literature Harvard University, in 1871, conferred upon him the degree of master of arts.

Mr. Bartlett's health had been feeble for several years, and the death a year ago of his wife, who had been his inseparable companion for fifty-four years, was a shock from which he did not fully recover. Since that time he seldom left his home, and a week ago his condition took a serious turn.

Mr. Bartlett's business career covered a period of fifty-two years. His interest in literature ceased only with his life. In 1894 he was made a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He was also a member of the Colonial Society of Boston, and of the Sons of the Revolution. In his earlier years he belonged to many Boston clubs. He was a man of wide reading, had a most retentive memory, and the search for the authorship of quotations always enlisted the keenest interest, although it entailed no less arduous labor. His disposition was a genial one, and he had many warm friends. He loved and honored his profession and was, when in active business, considered an expert upon all matters connected with the making of books. In his death the profession of publishing loses one of its oldest and most valued members.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

BROTHERHOOD OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS will give its twenty-first annual dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, on Thursday evening, December 28. Elaborate preparations are now entertained by the Committee of Arrangements, of which William J. Kelley is chairman, to make this "coming-of-age" dinner the most successful of the series. A number of prominent men are expected to be present, and Colonel John H. Black will preside, so that the prospects are that the committee will "make good." The price of the tickets for members and guests has been fixed at ten dollars. The price for a member's ticket includes the annual dues for the coming year. Applications for tickets should be addressed to the secretary, John Hovendon, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York.

At the annual meeting of the Brotherhood, held at the Sinclair House on the evening of the 5th inst., the following officers were elected to serve during the year 1906: Victor Cupples, president; Herman Schulz, vice-president, and John Hovendon, secretary and treasurer.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE.

THE annual dinner of the Stationers' Board of Trade will be given on Tuesday evening, February 6, in the Myrtle Room of the Waldorf-Astoria. The annual meeting of the Board will be held at its offices on Tuesday, January 2.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY announce that they will publish next fall a sequel to "Pam," the successful novel by the Baroness Von Hutten.

"THE HORSE IN SONG" is now known to be the work of Mr. and Mrs. Groome, who have been collecting these poems on the horse for several years.

DR. WILLIAM OSLER, formerly connected with Johns Hopkins University, has just been appointed a delegate of the Oxford University Press, Oxford, England.

ALFRED BARTLETT, of Boston, has just brought out a volume of poems by Hayden Sands, the poet of Haydensville, Mass., entitled "The Valley of Dreams."

THE OQUAGA PRESS, Deposit, N. Y., has just brought out "The Vagabond Book," by Frank Farrington, a collection of short essays and poems on the joys of outdoor life.

THE JEWISH PUBLICATION SOCIETY OF AMERICA, Philadelphia, Pa., will issue this month "A Renegade, and Other Tales," by Miss Martha Wolfenstein, author of "Idylls of the Gass."

THE C. N. CASPAR COMPANY, Milwaukee, Wis., have published four series of comic mailing cards—the Minerva, Burro, Gay Bathing Girls and Eros series. The cards are printed on a fine quality of cardboard, and are original in design and printed in lively colors.

CLAYTON F. SUMMY CO., 220 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, have published two pieces of music—"Melodrama of Hiawatha," by Saidee Knowland Coe, selections from Longfellow's poems, with musical setting for the piano; also, "The Buccaneer," a song story, with words in English and German, by Charles Noble, and music by Adolf Weidig.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just published "Hearts and Masks," a new novel by Harold MacGrath, the author of "The Man on the Box," the exhilarating gayety and zestful adventure of which should bring more closely to the author all his admirers. The book has twelve full-page drawings by Harrison Fisher and decorations by Ralph Fletcher Seymour.

PROBABLY most persons, even those acquainted with the intricacies of English pronunciation, have been pronouncing just as it is spelled the name of Mrs. Humphry Ward's latest hero, John Fenwick, in "Fenwick's Career," now running in The Century. But the ears of the true Britisher would be greatly offended by such Philistinism—the artist's name should be pronounced as if there were no "w" in it—Fen'ick.

"Do the College Entrance Requirements in Mathematics Demand a Disproportionate

Time in the Secondary School Curriculum?" is the subject of a lecture to be given by Professor David Eugene Smith, the author of the Smith arithmetics, before the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools at Annapolis, Md., on December 2. Copies of Professor Smith's monograph, "The Outlook for Arithmetic in America," will be sent postpaid, on request, by Ginn & Company.

EDWARD J. CLODE will publish early in January Louis Tracy's "Karl Grier," the strange story of a man with a sixth sense, which has been a pronounced success serially. "Telegnomy," or Karl Grier's far-knowing sense, strictly speaking, it is claimed, is not a new sense, as one differentiates seeing from hearing, or taste from touch, but a transcendental union of human reason with animal attributes. Its range, its curiously rational limitations, are set forth in this story.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has issued a new edition of "Christian Science, What is New and What is True About It," by the late Rev. Dr. William Short, of St. Louis. The book has an introduction by Dr. Hugh Miller Thompson, late Bishop of Mississippi. He will have ready shortly the "Church Calendar," in scroll form, for vestry and study; the "Girls' Friendly Calendar," "The Lectionary Calendar," and "Whittaker's Churchman's Almanac," for 1906, now in the fifty-second year of publication.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish early next year a volume of "Letters of Madame de Staël to Benjamin Constant," which has been edited by the Baroness Nolde, a descendant of Madame de Staël and the possessor of these letters which have been handed down through the family. The epistles refer to all the prominent men of France during the period, and this will be the first time they have ever seen the public eye. The book should prove a valuable and important addition to the publications on social post-revolutionary France.

BRENTANO'S have just brought out a reprint of the Preface to "Mrs. Warren's Profession," added to the London edition of the play published by the author. Mr. Shaw calls it "The Author's Apology." In this he makes a scathing arraignment of the conditions in London that made it possible for "The Conquerors," "Iris," and "Zaza" to be produced, while the censor ruled against "Mrs. Warren's Profession." The American issue has an introduction entitled "The Tyranny of Police and Press," written by John Corbin, reprinted in part from the New York Sun. The book is issued in striking form, and comes as a timely document in the case.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish early in January the first instalment, in two volumes, of a new work by Dr. James MacKinnon, entitled "A History of Modern Liberty." Dr. MacKinnon has imposed on himself the task of tracing the development of political, intellectual and religious liberty from the Middle Ages down to recent times. These two volumes deal respectively with the origins of the subject in the Middle Ages, and with the contribution made to it by the age of the Reformation. Acton, it may be remembered, cherished the idea of writing a history of liberty, which he, unfortunately, did not carry out. Dr. MacKinnon's work promises to realize this idea, as far as modern history is concerned.

THE J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish shortly a work on "The First Country Park System," by Frederick W. Kelsey, of Essex County, N. J., who was the vice-president of the Board of Commissioners appointed to lay out a system of parks in New Jersey. The work gives much information in reference to parks, from Boston to San Francisco, and contains concise recommendations of value to all who may be interested in park departments, and other boards transacting public business. The book will have ten full-page illustrations. They have also nearly ready "The Right to Love," a novel by Anna Chase Deppen, who is favorably known for short stories and poems contributed to Southern periodicals.

FISCHER'S FOREIGN LETTERS, INC., Bensonhurst, N. Y., announce that the second illustrated edition of "Private Lives of William II. and His Consort," by Henry W. Fischer, is almost exhausted, only 120 sets being left for the holiday trade. This will be the last of the two-volume edition. The succeeding issues will be on lighter paper, in one volume, but not abbreviated like the British edition, published by William Heinemann, of London. Besides the English edition and a proposed Colonial edition, there are also editions in French, Italian, Swedish, Bohemian, Dutch, German, Danish, Polish, Hungarian and Japanese. The book was twice suppressed in Berlin, once in Vienna and once in Prague. The Berlin police burned up nearly a thousand copies of the book last winter.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation a Manuscript edition of "The Complete Writings of Henry David Thoreau," handsomely illustrated with 100 photogravures from nature. The edition will consist of 20 volumes, limited to 600 signed and numbered sets, each containing a page of original manuscript. The last 14 volumes will contain "Thoreau's Journal," edited by Bradford Torrey, the larger proportion of which is material that has never before been published. The illustrations are from photographs by Herbert W. Gleason, who has made a careful study of Thoreau's writings, and has explored with equal thoroughness the woods and fields about Thoreau's home. The edition is printed in the best style of the Riverside Press, and a few sets will be bound in handsome leather with water color frontispieces.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. are just bringing out a volume entitled "The Greek View of Life," by G. Lowes Dickinson, author of "Letters from a Chinese Official," originally published anonymously, and a number of other books. Mr. Dickinson was for some time librarian of King's College, Cambridge, and then became a lecturer of that institution, a position he now holds. With the appearance of his two books, "The Meaning of Good" and "The Greek View of Life," he took his place as leader of that group of philosophical thinkers who are making the life stuff of modern days the material of their study. Mr. Dickinson lives in Cambridge, but lectures once a week at the School of Economics in London. He has done important work as editor of the Independent Review, a monthly paper published at Edinburgh, representing liberal views, of which he was one of the founders. He visited America a few years ago, and gave lectures on the British constitution at our leading universities.

THE OLIVER DITSON COMPANY has published in their excellent Musicians' Library a volume of "Seventy Scottish Songs," edited, with accompaniments, by Helen Hopekirk. In her interesting prefatory essay on Scottish music the compiler of this collection has endeavored to explain the misconception that has arisen from the association of two racially different peoples, the Celtic Scot and the Saxon Scot, so as to help to a better appreciation of their music. The translations from the Gaelic have been made with great care or selected from sources less calculated to rob either words or music of their haunting beauty. The banal "arrangements" found in most editions are conspicuously absent, for artistic accompaniments for each song have been written by Mme. Hopekirk, with the deep sympathy and understanding of a Scot and with the artistry of an accomplished musician. These "Seventy Songs" have been gathered from the Lowlands, the Highlands, the remote mountainous regions and from the Western Isles.

A VERY ingenious history of its business has been made by Doubleday, Page & Company in the window of Brentano's, in Union Square, New York. It tells by means of concrete objects the story of the firm's expansion, beginning with the first little red book of tales published by the Doubleday & McClure Company up to this week's publications of Doubleday, Page & Co. Among the interesting exhibits are the complete manuscript of Kipling's "The Light That Failed," part of the manuscript of "The Pit," by Frank Norris; an edition of "Bob, Son of Battle," made for the blind; the first autograph letters from Oliver Wendell Holmes and Phillips Brooks to Helen Keller, the first subscriptions for The World's Work, Country Life in America and The Garden Magazine, and the first firm catalogue of 14 pages—the catalogue now numbers 300 pages. The exhibit includes a great many interesting portraits of the Doubleday, Page & Co. authors, including Kipling, Miss Ellen Glasgow, Mrs. Eleanor Hoyt Brainerd, Ernest Thompson Seton, etc.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready volume II. of "The Life and Writings of Benjamin Franklin," edited by Professor Albert H. Smyth; "The Girl with the Green Eyes," by Clyde Fitch; "New Canterbury Tales," being volume IV. of the limited large paper edition of the works of Maurice Hewlett; "The Homes of Tennyson," painted by Helen Allingham, described by Arthur Paterson; "Burma," painted and described by R. Talbot Kelly; "A Study in Nursing," by Miss A. L. Pringle; "The Philosophy of Martineau in Relation to the Idealism of the Present Day," by Dr. Henry Jones; "Histological Studies on the Localization of Cerebral Function," by Alfred W. Campbell, M.D.; "Ideals in Art: Papers, Theoretical, Practical, Critical," by Walter Crane; a third edition of "A General View of the History of the English Bible," by Brooke Foss Westcott, revised by William Aldis Wright; "The Prevention of Senility, and a Sanitary Outlook," two lectures by Sir James Crichton-Browne; and "Emerson's Essays," edited by Eugene D. Holmes, in Macmillan's Pocket Classics Series. They will publish at once "Vikings of the Pacific," by Miss Agnes C. Laut, stories of the adventurers who came from the West Eastward—Bering, Drake, Cook, Benyousky, Gray, Vancouver, Ledyard and other soldiers of fortune; also, in the Globe Library a one-volume edition of "The Diary of Samuel Pepys," with a preface, introduction and notes by G. Gregory Smith.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☒ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☒ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Shakespeare's Sweetheart

By SARA HAWKS STERLING

8vo, cloth, 5 full-page illustrations in color, and marginal decorations on every page, $2.00

Read these extracts from the first five reviews received:

"It is an ideal love story, told with infinite sympathy and fascination. It is all naive, poetic and ingenious. The book itself is a delight to the eye. Rarely has the publisher so artistically adorned a tale. Cover, type, decorations and illustrations are not only attractive, but they reflect so sympathetically the spirit of the work that one is convinced that there may be such a thing as the art of publishing."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"A real surprise is this, and one to be enjoyed hugely. It is sweetly written. To the lover of ordinary romance it will present an irresistible power of interest."—Book News.

"For a person of literary tastes, there is nothing so promising for a Christmas present in the book line as 'Shakespeare's Sweetheart.'"—The Sunday Oregonian.

"'Tis a pretty tale indeed, and told in the manner of the time. It makes an attractive book, with many handsome illustrations, square in form, and boxed for Christmas."

—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

"It is one of the striking gift-books of the season."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

JUST READY

The Second (or Supplementary Volume) of the American Catalog 1900-1905

The second volume of the new "American Catalog, 1900, '01, '02, '03, '04," is now ready for delivery.

The first volume, issued in June last, is a complete record in itself, being a dictionary-catalog of all books recorded between January 1, 1900, and January 1, 1905. In its one alphabet every book is entered at least three times (by author, title and subject), with information as to size, price, publisher, year of issue, etc. It forms the latest addition to the old series of the "American Catalogue," published in quarto form, while the newest volume is an octavo, which is generally conceded to be a much handier shape. We can reasonably affirm that every dealer needs such a permanent catalog in his business, while every library of importance should have this standard bibliographical work on its shelves, since its usefulness in the world of books is on a par with a time-table in the railroad world.

The second, or supplementary volume, contains the full title entries, with annotations, given in the "Weekly Record" of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY during the five years 1900, '01, '02, '03, '04, cumulated into one alphabet for each year; that is, into five alphabets. This is planned to answer the demands of librarians, booksellers and others who wish this valuable material, in available shape, for classifying and describing and for permanent reference.

For the book dealer the second volume is a very useful record of book valuation. It gives in form for ready reference brief descriptive notices of the important books published during the period mentioned, describing concisely the contents of each work and explaining many titles which, in themselves, mean little or nothing or are misleading. For descriptive cataloging, a bibliographical work of this kind is almost priceless.

The two volumes are uniformly bound in half morocco. The price is $12.00 for both or $7.50 for either separately. The edition is limited, but 240 copies of the first volume and 145 of the second volume remain unsold. We reserve the right to advance the price when the balance of either is reduced to 100 copies.

STORIES FOR GIRLS

Betty Wales, Freshman

By MARGARET WARDE. Betty and her friends are typical American college girls, clever, jolly, high-spirited and lovable. They get all the fun and good possible out of their freshman year. Any one who meets them will wish to know them well. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

Betty Wales, Sophomore

By MARGARET WARDE. Those who knew Betty as a Freshman will be eager to follow her into Sophomore year. She and her friends are more interesting than ever. There is in every chapter the delightful atmosphere of the American College for girls. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

Polly the Gringo

By EVELYN RAYMOND. "Gringo" was a term applied by the Spanish natives of California to "Americanos" before California was in the Union. Polly Pancoast's father and brother went to California, and Polly followed them alone. Her experiences form a story of unusual charm in character and incident. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

An American Girl in Korea

By ANNIE M. BARNES. This very timely book offers a fascinating glimpse of the strange "Hermit Country." Margaret, although imprisoned in the underground dungeon of a monastery by Buddhist priests, whose mysterious rites she has witnessed, escapes and also frees a young artist. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

STORIES FOR BOYS

Winning His Way to West Point

By CAPT. PAUL B. MALONE, U. S. A. A thrilling story of a young recruit in the Philippines after the transfer to the United States. The scenes are those of camp, skirmish and battle. As a result of his bravery the hero wins an appointment to West Point. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

A Plebe at West Point

By CAPT. PAUL B. MALONE, U. S. A. Douglas Atwell won his cadetship by his bravery in the Philippines, and now appears at West Point. Capt. Malone knows the cadet life at first hand, and his story will stir the blood of every reader. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

Fighting King George

By JOHN T. MCINTYRE. Tom Deering was one of "Marion's Men," those fleet and daring riders who so baffled Tarleton and Clinton in the Carolinas. Tom sees lots of fighting and has the good fortune to be at Yorktown when Cornwallis gives up his sword. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

The Lost Expedition

By W. BERT FOSTER. This story, of how a professor and two young companions were lost on an Alaskan glacier, and how they escaped death in a dozen forms, has all the fascination of the old Arctic exploration narratives, with the zest of a stirring plot as well. Cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

STORIES FOR YOUNGER CHILDREN

Marjorie's Way

By ALICE TURNER CURTIS. Marjorie had two aims—to be like her aunt, and to help Luke Saunders. Luke turned out well and Marjorie did become like her aunt in a surprising way. A very wholesome and charming story. Cloth, illustrated, $1.00.

The Boynton Pluck

By HELEN WARD BANKS. Bob and Billy by mistake get into the hands of a mean old farmer, who overworks and half starves them. It takes pluck to stand it, but they pull through it, and are all the better for their experience. Cloth, illustrated, $1.00.

NOTICE

Owing to the extended collaboration of author and translator,

FLASHLIGHTS IN THE JUNGLE

By C. G. SCHILLINGS

is to be postponed until January, 1906

No effort is being spared to make this the most marvellous work of modern times—a book which will live; and we do not hesitate to say that the final production will reward the patience of those who are looking forward to its appearance. Translation by Frederic Whyte. More than 300 photographs of African Wild Animals. Net, $3.80. (Postage 38 cents.)

TWO OTHER POSTPONEMENTS

It has also been found necessary to delay the publication of "The Country House," by Chas. Edw. Hooper, and "The Fern Book," by G. A. Woolson. These two books will appear in handsome form in January.
